ELECTRICITY KILLED HIM.

ELECTRICITY KILLED HIM.

At the Golden late rains at $250 oclace Thurslay evening William P. Walters lost his life. It appears that Walters in a spiril of daring took hold of a live wire running from the seventh drift to the engine-room, and was instantly killed. His companion, Herbert Cooley, narrowly exemed with his life. Cooley, whose duty it is to attend to the engineer at the top of the drift. He received a shock of electricity Young Walters laughed at him, stepped forward and took hold of the wire with both hands, standing in front of Cooley, who will had his hand on the wire. Instantly Walters coubled up and pitched Yolden was a called but before he arrived yould Walters had on the wire. Dr. Thayer was called but before he arrived yould Walters had on the wire. Dr. Thayer was called but before he arrived yould want was in years old. Instantive at Wellers had just recently returned from a mission to southern fillings. He was well liked in fact, a general favorite. A large body of people followed the remains to the dopot.

Saturday an inquest was held before Coroner A. H. Dunlavy as to the cause of William Walters's death. The litures, Fred Gable, Fred Elmendorff and Guy Boloynee, vilwed the remains in Watt's undertaking pariors and then inspected the place where the accident occurred. The following witnesses were summoned: Fred McFarland, Fred Rogers, Carl Akle, William F. Burgs and H. P. Cooley. The jury found that Walters came to bis death by accident with no one to blame. The remains were shipped to Salt Lake City, where the parents of the deceased was accompanied by Joseph Branchiey.

MINES AND MINERS.

President Dern of the Consolidated Mercur is expected to reach home next week. A letter from him, dated at Havana, Cuba, stated that he would leave there last Tuesday for New Or-leans.

Arthur Murphy, manager of the Dulsy mines and mill at West Dip, is in town again. Mr. Murphy is not deling much talking at this time—he has currendered the floor to the auro-cyanides now coming from the mill.

The news that chlorination was to be introduced in Tintle was revelved with many manifestations of approval during the day. The largest chlorination plant in the world, which is operated by the United States Reduction and Rening company at Colorado City, has achieved its proportions on ores of the same character, and what the nestood has cone for Cripple Creek II promises to repeat in Tintle.

The slines plant, which promises to add materially to Con. Mercur carnings, if it does not entirely obviate the issues, will gu into commission the present week, with teorge Moore, thyenter of the process who has been detained in town to be present at the event. While the defays have been many and proceding to the shareholders, they have been treatried by the manufacturer of certain fittings, but this will have soon been forgotten.

AN EARLY RIBER.

A strong, healthy, active constitution depends largely on the condition of the liver. The famous little pills known as DeWitt's Little Early Risers not only cleanse the system, but they strengthen the action of the liver and rebuild the tissues supporting that organ. pated, and among the more prominent ones were Buckskin Clark. Daniel Stanton and A. W. Moore. When it came to the selection of a name for the newly-found district quite a friendly rivalry arose. A goodly number of those present wanted it called Galena, others thought Agenta a more appropriate name, while Ophir was suggested as being a better one. The house seemed to be pretty well divided on the subject, so little slips of paper were passed around and the matter settled by hallot. Ophir won and the camp has borne that title ever since. Many, in fact nearly all, of the men who took part in that menorable meeting have laid down their tools and passed over the Great Divide. Buckskin Clark and A. W. Moore were among the latest to close life's chapter. (Continued From Our Last.)

this manner was lost in mining ventures made afterward.

ORIGINAL MINERS.

While the soldlers under the command of Gen. Connor may have done the first prospecting in the 80°s, Mr. Herman says the first really active mining commenced there in 1570, and that the two men who discovered the present Ophir-Hill mine—John W. Cooley and James McBride—undertook to market the first ore. They made no money of consequence, for the reason that they experienced difficulty in finding a market. Some of the ore was shipped to the old Wattorman smolter, seventeen miles south of the Great Salt lake, but owing to their composition the furnaces would freeze quickly; hence, the product of the mine was not wanted. Cooley and McBride soid out their interests for a few hundred dollars.

The Walker Brothers entered Ophir canyon, Mr. Herman says, about 1873, and soon afterward built a mill and operated it for some time on ores obtained from Lion hill, on the east side of the canyon. Marcus Daly managed the Walker properties. When the mill was abandoned the machinery was shipped to Butte and used at the Alice mine.

shipped to Butte and used at the Alice mine.

The first experienced miners who entered the Dry caryon section of the district, according to Mr. Herman, went there in the year 1865. The mountains in that portion of the camp were heavily covered with timber, and John Moore, the lender of the pieneer party, applied to Mr. Herman to survey some timber claims for them, Mr. Herman cannot recall the names of all the men-who comprised the little delagatios, but a nan by the name of John Dyer was the cook.

Along about 1871 or 1872 the town of Ophir contained several thousand people, and Mr. Herman is ready to confirm all that has been said claewhere relative to the moral condition of the camp in the early days.

PHONEER HOTEL.

John Duke was the ploneer hotel-keeper and kept a place in a log cabin building, on the site of the present of Brien house. The hotel was known as the Duke house, and the owner did a very i-riving business. Mr. Herman stupped at the place a number of times and, on one occasion while he was engaged in surveying the townsite, put up there. Every bed in the house was taken, and in order to accommodate as many guests as possible, three persons were obliged to sleep in the same bank. On one particular night Mr. Horman turned in with two bedmates whom he did not know and had never soon before. There were a number of beds in the name room, and all of them in course, were filled. While Mr. Herman and his stranger compations were turing to slumber, several men were turily organged in a lively game of poker. Upon the table where they were PIONEER HOTEL.

The decline of the camp came with the exhausting of the rich surface deposits and the inability to treat the baser ores to a profit with the crude methods in vogue at that time.

Col. E. A. Wall and the late Allan G. Campbell became the swnors of the Ophir-Hill property, and it was by them that the deal for the sale of the mine to Senator Clark was effected. The Montana Senator paid $75,000 for the mine.

The filters consist of a series of parallel plates 4 inches apart. Each plate is 20 feet long and 4 feet high and is simply at the top at the center down to within a half inch of the bottom, while two blowing pipes also enter at the top, each one-half way between the center eins and extend barely through the top at the center eins and extend barely through the top. Eighteen of these parallel plates at firmly attached to channel from crossing their tops, thus forming one basket of filters, that is, one unit. We thus have in one machine a total filtering surface of 2880 square feet. On top of these plates and connected to their suction pipes by a 3-inch cross header pipe, rests a 54-inch and 8-inch by 7-inch vacuum pump. The whole basket hangs by eight wire cables from an electric crane with raises and lowers the basket and carries it from one compartment of the tank to another. This tank has three compartments, containing slimes, weak cyanide solution, and wash water. Just beyond the wash-water compartment is the discharge point, simply an open square under which the tallings cars stand to receive their loud.

"In operation the filter basket is lowered in the silmes compartment and the vacuum pump is started. The silmes are agilated to prevent settling. After the suction has proceeded from one to two hours, varying with the character of the silmes and with the thickness of the amulsion, there is a coating of silmes on all parts of the filtering surface of from three-fourths to one inch in thickness, dry weight. The motor on the crane is "The advantages of this sytem are obvious; first, a saving of from 40 to 60 cents per too in labor; second, a saving of a like amount in extraction; third, a saving of over 50 per cent in the cost of installation. The saving in extraction is due to the fact that, while the filter is in the slimes tank and the suction in operation an equalizing action is taking place, rendering all parts of the cake of equal resistance to the flow of solution and wash-water, so that when placed in the washing tanks a perfect displacement of solution is accomplished. For example, we might consider that it would be possible for one spot on the more of the cokers slimes cake to have more of the cokers slimes, or fine sands, than the other parts; then there would be less resistance to the flow at this point; therefore, the slimes would be accelerated here, the slimes would be accelerated here, the slimes would be necessated by the angle to the flow of solution and wash-water, so other points. This equalizing influence is, in fact, so continuously in operation that at no instant is there any less resistance to the flow at one point that at all other points. Thus, when iffed out from the alimes comparirent, the entire basket of filters is in perfect condition for washing and, in practice, all the soluble gold in extracted.

ART CRITICISM.

The artistic firmament of Salt Lake City has been, of late, much disturbed by pyrotechnic cruptions of the artistic temperament on account of the failure to award a prize at a former exhibition, the judges claiming that of the pictures entered none was possessed of sufficient merit to win the award. And this brings to mind the fact that there has always been dissatisfaction among those who have failed to win in similar exhibitions, and always will be, in greater degree than elsewhere, until some acceptable standard of criticism is attained and established. It is underiable that not only in this State, especially, but throughout the country, the dearth of rational criticism is a serious drawback to the progress of art among us. While our students are assimilating all that is to be learned in the foremost European schools, and discovering, some of them, very remarkable talents, our art criticism is not progressing at a corresponding rate. The knowledge which enables the critic to lead his public and to keep abreast of current movements in art is possessed by very few.
